Recruitment Policy & Guidelines

Purpose: The purpose behind the policy is to ensure that best practices are applied to the entire recruitment process, right from attracting the right talent to onboarding the resource.

	Scope: The Recruitment and Selection Policy applies to all employees who are involved in the hiring process. This policy also applies to all potential job candidates.
---	--

Introduction:

Recruitment is the process of actively seeking out and hiring candidates for a specific position or job. The recruitment definition includes the entire hiring process, from inception to the individual recruit's integration into the company. Having a recruitment policy will serve as guidelines for the recruitment process and will benefit the organisation at all levels.

Objective:

The basic objective of a good Recruitment and Selection Policy is to make sure that the right candidate is hired following the right process for hiring and selection. There must be a sync between the hired candidate and organisational values, philosophy, and goals.

Principle of Recruitment Policy

- Below mentioned Principles must be followed while recruiting employees:
- As per the company's Policy, it believes in open competition for recruitment.
- The company makes sure that the right and meritorious candidate is hired through its effective recruitment process.
- The company makes sure that the recruitment and selection of candidates happen in a professional way and by following the rules and regulations under employment legislation.
- The company also ensures that all its employees involved in the recruitment and selection process are well-trained. The company provides training to all its employees to ensure they are well-trained and equipped to carry on recruitment, and that they comply with the regulations of the policy.
- Recruitment must be carried out in a manner that enhances the image of the company outside.
- The company also put in its best efforts to carry out the process in a transparent and effective manner wherein all candidates are treated equally so that the recruitment experience is a positive one.
- The company believes in inculcating new and innovative practices in its recruitment process and will promote best practices.
- The company also tries its best to make sure that this process is carried out in a very cost-effective manner.

	Master Employee Policies
	Doc No	NS-POL-01		Doc Version 1.1

- Any employee in the recruitment team who has a close relationship with any of the candidates applying for any position in the company must make sure that it is declared by the employee at the beginning of the recruitment process, and he/she will not be involved in any decision-making process.
- All the information provided by the candidate must be treated with confidentiality and must not be shared with any third party.

Recruitment Selection Policy and Procedure

Hiring teams could go through the following steps:

Identify the need for an opening: Hiring Manager or Project Manager realises the need for a new resource because of the resignation of an existing employee or a new project requirement.

Decide whether to hire externally or internally: If a resource having the required skill sets is unavailable within the organization to fill up the open position, a need to identify a suitable resource externally arises. The Manager then sends out an email to the recruitment team about the open position.

Review the job description and compose a job ad: To attract the right talent from the Job market, a Job description is drafted with necessary information like the Job responsibilities, skill sets required for the job, and desired skill sets.

Budget for the hire: The hiring cost is decided for the open position. The cost is decided taking into consideration the Company's compensation standards and Salary band for the level of experience and the pay scale prevailing in the industry for the particular skill.

Select appropriate sources (external or internal) for posting the opening: Job ads are published on Job portals/social media and circulated within the organization to attract potential candidates. If the position is very challenging, the requirement is all shared with external staffing agencies to ensure the position is closed at the earliest.

Decide on the selection stages and possible timeframe: Hiring Manager or Project Manager determines the number of interviews required and the duration within which the position should be closed.

Sourcing candidates: The recruitment team will source candidates from the Job ad responses received or through Job portals. The recruiters will approach both passive and active job applicants through all the means provided.

Shortlist applications: Applicants are shortlisted after screening their profiles. The screening process includes talking to the applicants, collecting basic information, and mapping the profiles to the Job description. The Recruiter must be very conscious about the type of questions asked of the candidate. The questions should not sound discriminatory in any form. Questions related to the candidate's race, gender, age, religion, sexual orientation, disability, and family planning should be avoided.

	Master Employee Policies
	Doc No	NS-POL-01		Doc Version 1.1

Interview Process: The shortlisted candidates are invited for interviews. The interviews can be face-to-face or through video calls. Recruiters will send out email confirmations to the candidates with interview details like Date, time, and mode of interview. The interview process is divided into 3 levels. Level 1 is conducted by a technical panel of 2 or more panellists.

Level 2 is conducted by the Project Manager and Level 3 is conducted by the HR Manager. The feedback on 1st and 2nd rounds is captured on an Interview template and saved for future reference.

Selection of candidate: A candidate who successfully completes all the levels of the interview is identified as a right fit for the position. Selection is purely based on the candidate's technical abilities and behavioural aspects. There is no room for bias or favouritism. Candidates who do not clear the interviews will be notified over an email and they will have a freeze period of 6 months to reapply for any open positions in the future.

Make an official offer: A verbal offer can be made to the candidate by the HR department. Initially, in the verbal offer salary, date of joining, and other related aspects are discussed with the candidate. The offer made to the candidate has the proposed salary under the fixed slab of salary for that grade. A maximum limit is also defined which can't be exceeded for a given salary slab. In case of exceptional salary hikes to be given, Directors must be consulted first. After the settlement of the verbal offer, the written offer is prepared by the HR department considering the service standard.

- Background Verification: Other checks such as previous employment verification, and authenticity of qualification documents are done by the HR department based on the project needs.
- Revoked offers: In case an offer has to be revoked, the hiring manager and human resources department should draft and sign an official document. This document should include a legitimate reason for revoking the offer. Legitimate reasons include:
 - The candidate is proved to not be legally allowed to work for our company at a specific location
 - Candidate has falsified references or otherwise lied about a serious issue
 - A candidate doesn't accept the offer within the specified deadline (deadline must have been included in the offer letter)
 - Hiring managers and HR must notify the candidate formally as soon as possible.

What Accounts as Optimal Performance

The company has set minimum performance requirements that every employee is expected to adhere to:

- Complete all job responsibilities.
- Regularly meet your targets and progressively outperform your previous performance.
- Support your team efficiently.
- Be open to new opportunities and learning.
- Follow the company's code of conduct.

The Performance Review Process:

Employees' performances will be reviewed on a half-yearly basis.

The review process will include self-assessment and assessment by your immediate manager/ supervisor or both. Self-review includes reviewing one's own performance based on the facilities and resources provided by the company. This helps us evaluate and decide upon resources that will help elevate your performance.

Your immediate supervisor and managers will participate in a Management Review where they will rate your growth and performance. This review plays a vital role in employee's bonuses and increments as well as promotions.

Escalation Meeting:

In the event of a team member, is not satisfied by the awarded score, an escalation meeting is called for. If the escalation meeting is called for, the immediate supervisor, team manager, and skip-level manager will be present. A detailed discussion regarding the ratings and the rationale behind the rating would be given to the individual. Any form of corrective measure (if required) would be discussed during this meeting. Finally, all the participants of the escalation meeting will eventually arrive at a mutual consensus.

Documentation:

This is the last step of the "Performance Management System". After the review meeting, when an employee agrees upon the awarded score, his/her consent is captured and the PMS data will be available on the employee login repository.

Training And Rewards

Your performance review is critical for your yearly bonus as well as an increment.

Post your performance review if it is felt that training in some areas can amplify your performance, you will be given opportunities to be trained and grow your skills.

Performance Improvement Plan (PIP) & Behavior Improvement Plan (BIP)

1. Objective

- 1.1. The Performance Improvement Policy/Program aligned to Novigo Values will provide Employees with what is expected in their jobs, how they are doing in meeting these expectations, and how they can continually improve their performance to contribute to their own success and the overall success of Novigo. The gap may be in the performance of the job or behavior.

2. Applicability

- 2.1. This Policy is applicable to all Novigo employees in the roles of the organization (interns, contract, and permanent employees).

3. Policy & Procedure

- 3.1. The strength of an organisation is its people. If we recognise their talent, develop their capabilities, and utilise them appropriately, they will contribute to the long-term excellence of the organisation. Therefore, it is imperative to assess the performance and assess their growth potential.
- 3.2. Performance Evaluation is an ongoing and integrated process, not a series of single events, where participation is of equal responsibility to the direct People Leader and Employee.
- 3.3. While there should be ongoing 'connect' feedback conversations about performance, there are also specific steps in the process to formally establish, check in, and assess the extent to which performance is achieved.
- 3.4. A performance improvement plan can resolve workplace productivity issues and help even the most unlikely employee succeed in an organisation. PIP is designed to facilitate constructive discussion between an employee and their manager to clarify the exact work performance requiring improvement. The purpose of the objectives outlined is to help the employee to attain the desired level of performance.

4. Performance Improvement Plan Process

- 4.1. Manager and human resources (HR) review the plan for objective feedback and approval. This will ensure employees experience consistent, fair treatment across all departments in the company.
- 4.2. Prior to beginning the PIP, the supervisor should review the following six points with the employee to ensure the plan is clearly understood:
- State the exact performance that must be improved; be specific and cite examples.
 - State the level of the work performance expectation and that it must be performed on a consistent basis.
 - Identify and specify the support and resources that you will provide to assist the employee to succeed.
 - Communicate your plan for providing feedback to the employee. Specify meeting times, with whom and how often. Specify the measurements you will consider in evaluating the employee's progress.
 - Specify possible consequences if the performance standards you are establishing in the document are not met.
 - Provide sources of additional information such as training sessions and any other resources you believe will assist the employee in improving their performance.

	Master Employee Policies
	Doc No	NS-POL-01		Doc Version 1.1

4.3. The PIP will be divided into 2 parts

- i. Minor Improvement Program (MIP) The Minor Improvement Program (MIP) will precede the formal PIP and will be conducted over a period of two (2) weeks.

Week 1: The Reporting Manager / Team Lead will meet with the employee to discuss performance gaps, expectations, and improvement areas.

Week 2: A joint meeting involving the Reporting Manager and HRBP will be conducted.

Activity: Reinforce identified concerns and provide guidance and support.

Outcome: Document the discussion summary in the Minutes of the Meeting (MOM).

A verbal warning will be issued during the MIP and formally recorded in the MOM.

- ii. Performance Improvement Plan (PIP) – If sufficient improvement is not demonstrated during the MIP, a formal PIP of four (4) weeks will be initiated. Formal written communication will be issued to the employee. The employee will be assigned specific tasks and work projects, which will be closely monitored. Weekly performance reviews will be conducted by the Reporting Manager with HR involvement. Continuous feedback and guidance will be provided throughout the PIP duration. The total PIP duration is four (4) weeks.

4.4. PIP Duration

The standard PIP duration will be one (1) month (4 weeks), with extensions considered based on progress and business requirements.

- 4.5. At any point in time, if the employee shows progress, he/she has to be relieved from MIP / PIP. However, a decrease in performance after completing the improvement plan may also result in strict action without issuing another warning or improvement plan.

5. ROLES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

5.1. People Leader

- 5.1.1. Recognise and reinforce strong performance in Employees and identify and encourage improvement where needed.
- 5.1.2. Schedule and conduct regular performance conversations with Employees as prescribed in PIP, preferably one-on-ones to connect on performance.
- 5.1.3. Check in on Employee's progress toward achieving Objectives, offer support and remove barriers.
- 5.1.4. Communicate and revisit performance expectations to reinforce and encourage a high-performance culture.
- 5.1.5. Continuously improve leadership skills by personally seeking feedback and development.
- 5.1.6. Utilize open, honest, two-way communication to build trust-based relationships with Employees.

5.2. Employee

- 5.2.1. Together with People Leader, set Objectives and Development Plan.
- 5.2.2. Work toward achieving Objectives, keep track of progress and timelines. Regularly communicate progress to People Leader.
- 5.2.3. Take responsibility and actively seek opportunities for professional and career development.
- 5.2.4. Be open and accept feedback, take the initiative to improve, and seek support as required.

5.3. Human Resources

- 5.3.1. Provide development, including training and coaching to client groups on the PIP process, the steps involved, their responsibilities, and the benefits to be gained by all, addressing each group's (People Leaders and Employees) particular needs.
- 5.3.2. Clearly explain the reason for PIP and its Objectives and Values.

	Master Employee Policies
	Doc No	NS-POL-01		Doc Version 1.1

- 5.3.3. Analyze and review the client group's process results for participation, team strengths and development needs, trends in one's performance, and areas where the process can be improved.
- 5.3.4. Communicate to senior leaders strategic results of the process and actions being taken.

Final Warning PIP 1-month Warning letter

Hello XXXX,

This is with regards to your performance which was brought to your attention during timely meetings and formal communication.

It is clear that you have not been performing your allocated work as per the expectations of your XXXX XXXX role. You were given timely feedback and action points to improve with the first verbal warning dated DD-MM-YYYY. Unfortunately, up to date, there is no significant improvement in your performance.

Novigo Solutions values you as an employee, and we intend to make you fully aware of this situation and assist you in improving your work performance.

Therefore, you are being put on a performance improvement plan for the next 1 month starting DD-MM-YYYY.

Your work will be closely monitored, and we will review your final progress on the DD-MM-YYYY. A weekly set of tasks will be assigned to you, which must be completed successfully.

As discussed in our earlier communications, Punctuality, Integrity, Attitude, and other conduct will also be monitored and will be included in the feedback. We, along with the HR Team, have discussed the possible outcomes of this PIP with you, so take this PIP seriously.

A decrease in performance after successfully completing the improvement plan may also result in strict action without issuing another warning or improvement plan.

We are always available to discuss any issues or concerns you may have as you work through this plan.

Regards, XXXX

Please Note: Since the organization is currently operating in Hybrid model offering flexible work from home / partial work from office plan to you, delivery of this e-mail is considered as warning issued and no hard copy will be issued separately.

The same process will be followed for the Behavioural improvement plan; your overall behaviour will be monitored closely.

COMPANY POLICIES

Dress Code Policy

Promotions are purely performance-based, workplace conduct and experience. Acceptable criteria for promotion are: a high level of performance

Merit: denotes an individual employee's skill, knowledge, ability, efficiency, and aptitude as measured from educational, training, and past employment record. It helps employees to acquire a new skill, and knowledge. However, lack of reliability in determining merit criteria objectively is the main obstacle to it's becoming the sole basis for promotion.

Employees would be considered for promotion to a higher grade after staying in a given grade for a period of 2-5 years. Due weight age would be given to a good service record in terms of:

- Ability to do many tasks Multi-tasking.
- Behavior with subordinates, colleagues, and peers.
- Attendance and right attitude.
- Demonstrated ability to improve quality, productivity, safety, cost, and efficiency.
- Consistency in the quality of work.
- Willingness to accept tasks, accountabilities and responsibilities.
- Ability to finish tasks on time and up to the desired level of efficiency.
- Honesty and Positive Attitude towards work.
- Smart worker rather than being a hard worker.

These criteria reflect the bigger picture of an employee's work. Managers should avoid making decisions for promotion based on recent or insignificant events. They should keep logs with important incidents that they might want to consider when it's time to promote one of their team members.

In accordance with our company policies, we will not tolerate promotions that are based on:

- Manager's/ heads subjective opinions unsupported by performance evaluations or metrics.
- Discrimination.
- Fraternization.
- Favoritism.
- Nepotism.

To avoid such incidents, managers must keep good records of their promotion evaluation process

When can Managers consider employees for promotion?

Promotions may occur when:

- A job opening is advertised internally as well as externally.
- A position opens unexpectedly and our company wants to fill it from within.
- An employee has consistently good performance evaluations and their manager deems them ready for the next step in their career.

Also, our company has an updated career plan that indicates each employee's possible career path. Managers should take this plan into account when deeming to promote or advance their team members.

Process for standard promotions

Our company will establish a promotion review process every April . During this process, managers/heads may consider selecting employees to move to a higher-level position, or a position that better matches their skills and aspirations. Spontaneous promotions may also occur if a business needs arise.

	Master Employee Policies

Managers should follow this process:

- Meet with employees to talk about their career goals and/or aspirations for a promotion. Managers/heads should create career plans for their team members.
- Identify opportunities to promote one or more team members, if applicable (by either filling vacancies creating new jobs or enhancing job titles.)
- Discuss the promotion with HR to receive approval.
- Arrange a meeting with the employee to determine whether they'd be happy with this career move.

Managers must keep detailed records of the process to support their decisions to promote employees. These records may also come in handy if other employees find the decision unfair or sue the company.

Role Change

A role change can occur whenever an employee moves from one team to another team with a different role, or from one unit to another unit. The Primary job title and the band would remain the same only the secondary job titles changed.

These changes can be accommodated at any time as in when the need arises and does not affect the remuneration.

Process: The current manager will have to send an email to HR copying the new manager and the Unit heads Informing the role change of an employee. A simple format will have to be followed.

Internal job posting (IJP):

Hiring teams may post the job internally for a period of time before they post externally or post at both places at the same time. Internal candidates may be given priority in the hiring process since they're already familiar with our culture and expectations.

Job postings should mention if the promotion involves relocation. Discrimination against protected characteristics is prohibited both for internal and external hiring decisions.

Managers who post job openings internally should:

1. Consider all applications equally, based on their predetermined requirements.
2. Determine whether an internal candidate has the skills to perform the job.
3. Examine recent performance evaluations of internal candidates.
4. Interview qualified internal candidates if necessary.
5. Inform candidates whether they were selected for promotion.
6. After the employee has accepted the job, hiring managers should inform HR and the employee's current supervisor, if appropriate.

Keep records of the application review process and any Career Progression need discussion with your HR and then based on the merit any promotion will be considered

The Management reserves the right to amend this Policy keeping in mind the business exigencies.

2. In the context of this policy, a third-party refers to any individual or organisation our company meets and works with. What is and what is NOT acceptable

This section of the policy refers to 4 areas:

- Gifts and hospitality.
- Facilitation payments.
- Political contributions.
- Charitable contributions.

Gifts and hospitality

Novigo accepts normal and appropriate gestures of hospitality and goodwill (whether given to/received from third parties) so long as the giving or receiving of gifts meets the following requirements:

1. It is not made with the intention of influencing the party to whom it is being given, to obtain or reward the retention of a business or a business advantage, or as an explicit or implicit exchange for favours or benefits.
2. It is not made with the suggestion that a return favour is expected.
3. It is in compliance with local law.
4. It is given in the name of the company, not in an individual's name.
5. It does not include cash or a cash equivalent (e.g. a voucher or gift certificate).
6. It is appropriate for the circumstances (e.g. giving small gifts around Christmas or as a small thank you to a company for helping with a large project upon completion).
7. It is of an appropriate type and value and given at an appropriate time, taking into account the reason for the gift.
8. It is given/received openly, not secretly.
9. It is not selectively given to a key, influential person, clearly with the intention of directly influencing them.
10. It is not offered to, or accepted from, a government official or representative or politician or political party without the prior approval of the company's compliance manager.

Facilitation Payments

1. Where it is inappropriate to decline the offer of a gift (i.e. when meeting with an individual of a certain religion/culture who may take offence), the gift may be accepted so long as it is declared to the VP HR, who will assess the circumstances.
2. Novigo recognises that the practice of giving and receiving business gifts varies between countries, regions, cultures, and religions, so definitions of what is acceptable and not acceptable will inevitably differ for each.
3. As good practice, gifts given and received should always be disclosed to the VP HR. Gifts from suppliers should always be disclosed.
4. The intention behind a gift being given/ received should always be considered. If there is any uncertainty, the advice of the HR should be sought.
5. Facilitation Payments and Kickbacks Novigo does not accept and will not make any form of facilitation payments of any nature. We recognise that facilitation payments are a form of bribery that involves expediting or facilitating the performance of a public official for a routine governmental action. We recognise that they tend to be made by low-level officials with the intention of securing or speeding up the performance of a certain duty or action.
6. Novigo does not allow kickbacks to be made or accepted. We recognise that kickbacks are typically made in exchange for a business favour or advantage.

7. Novigo recognizes that, despite our strict policy on facilitation payments and kickbacks, employees may face a situation where avoiding a facilitation payment or kickback may put their/their family's personal security at risk. Under these circumstances, the following steps must be taken:
 - Keep any amount to the minimum.
 - Ask for a receipt detailing the amount and reason for the payment.
 - Create a record concerning the payment.
 - Report this incident to your line manager.

Political Contributions

Novigo will not make donations, whether in cash, kind, or by any other means, to support any political parties or candidates. We recognise this may be perceived as an attempt to gain an improper business advantage.

Charitable Contributions

1. Novigo accepts (and indeed encourages) the act of donating to charities – whether through services, knowledge, time, or direct financial contributions– and agrees to disclose all charitable contributions it makes.
2. Employees must be careful to ensure that charitable contributions are not used to facilitate and conceal acts of bribery.
3. We will ensure that all charitable donations made are legal and ethical under local laws and practices and that donations are not offered/made without the approval of the compliance manager.

Employee Responsibilities

1. As an employee of Novigo, you must ensure that you read, understand, and comply with the information contained within this policy and with any training or other anti-bribery and corruption information you are given.

3. If you have reason to believe or suspect that an instance of bribery or corruption has occurred or will occur in the future that breaches this policy, you must notify the compliance manager.
4. If any employee breaches this policy, they will face disciplinary action and could face dismissal for gross misconduct. Novigo has the right to terminate a contractual relationship with an employee if they breach this anti-bribery policy.

What happens if I need to raise a concern?

This section of the policy covers three areas:

1. How to raise a concern.
2. What to do if you are a victim of bribery or corruption.
3. Protection.

How to raise a concern

1. If you suspect that there is an instance of bribery or corrupt activities occurring in relation to Novigo, you are encouraged to raise your concerns at as early a stage as possible. 	Doc No	NS-POL-01		Doc Version 1.1

Protection

1. If you refuse to accept or offer a bribe or you report a concern relating to potential act(s) of bribery or corruption Novigo, understands that you may feel worried about potential repercussions. Novigo will support anyone who raises concerns in good faith under this policy, even if the investigation finds that they were mistaken.
2. Novigo will ensure that no one suffers any detrimental treatment as a result of refusing to accept or offer a bribe or other corrupt activities or because they reported a concern relating to potential act(s) of bribery or corruption.
3. Detrimental treatment refers to dismissal, disciplinary action, treats, or unfavorable treatment in relation to the concern the individual raised.
4. If you have reason to believe you've been subjected to unjust treatment as a result of a concern or refusal to accept a bribe, you should inform your line manager or the compliance manager immediately.

3. Novigo will provide relevant anti-bribery and corruption training to employees etc., where we feel their knowledge of how to comply with the Bribery Act needs to be enhanced. As good practice, all businesses should provide their employees with anti-bribery training where there is a potential risk of facing bribery or corruption during work activities.

Record keeping

Novigo will keep detailed and accurate financial records and will have appropriate internal controls in place to act as evidence for all payments made. We will declare and keep a written record of the amount and reason for hospitality or gifts accepted and given and understand that gifts and acts of hospitality are subject to managerial review.

Process Flow:

Escalation Management

Escalation Management instructs how to effectively elevate difficult employee issues and problems through the chain of command. This document describes the process used to raise an issue, action or concern to a higher level of management for resolution when resolution cannot be reached at the initial level.

Employee Escalation

Employees should follow this order when dealing with a problem because it empowers the employee & respects the chain of command:

- If a worker is faced with a problem, s/he is empowered to solve it on his/her own if qualified & the solution does not require approval.
- If not qualified to solve the problem, the employee escalates to supervisor.
- If the supervisor does not solve the problem to the employee's satisfaction, then the employee can escalate the problem to next level in the chain of command until the problem is solved or the employee decides that higher escalation is not warranted.

Escalation Process and Procedure

Prior to an issue being raised the following standard processes and practices should be utilized.

The originator of an issue should first discuss their concerns directly with their counterparts and work to resolve issues where all parties will be attempting to work together for a collective successful resolution. If the parties fail to agree, then the parties should move to Stage One of the escalation Process.

Level 1 – Issue Escalation: (Employee and next chain of command; reporting Line Manager) – Escalation begins at Level One when an issue has been raised. The parties, having failed to resolve, will submit the issue (email) to the reporting Line Manager, describing the details of the issue and any immediate actions taken to resolve the conflict/issue. If escalation is resolved successfully by reporting Line Manager at Level 1, no further action is required. If level 1 action plan fails to resolve the issue or if an agreement on an action plan cannot be reached, the issue escalates to level 2.

Level 2 – Unresolved Escalation: (Employee and immediate reporting Manager's Line Manager) – The Level 2 will review and evaluate escalation and a revised course of action will be developed and agreed upon. If resolution is not achievable at level 2, it should be escalated to Level 3.

Level 3 – Employee, Divisional Head & HR Manager – The escalation will be reviewed and evaluated by the Divisional Head and Human Resource Manager and a revised course of action will be developed and agreed upon. If resolution is not achievable at level 3, it should be escalated to the Management

Level 4 – Employee & Management (VP HR or The Management team, depending on the reporting Division)– In conjunction with Divisional Head & HR, the escalation will be reviewed and evaluated by the Management and a final course of action will be developed and agreed upon.

Exceptions

Under the following circumstances, an employee can directly approach the employee grievances committee (gc@novigosolutions.com) and / or Leadership (management) to highlight grievances or concerns. For eg:

- Impacting the business of the company
- Sensitive issue on data theft
- Grave misconduct
- Breach of confidentiality
- Tarnishing company image
